U.S. TO LET COUNSEL TO C.I.A. TAKE STAND

BUFFALO, Oct. 4 (AP)—A

United States Attorney said today the general counsel of the Central Intelligence Agency could testify at the trial of two men on conspiracy charges in a bomber-export deal.

United States Attorney John T. Curtin indicated this as the trial before Judge John O. Henderson in United States District Court entered its third week.

Mr. Curtin said Lawrence R. Houston, the C.I.A.'s general counsel, was available to testify. Judge Henderson has authorized the issuance of subpoenas to 11 potential defense witnesses. One was directed to C. I. A. Director Richard Helms or a subordinate.
